eVent™ Prefabricated Chimney Systems Designed For High-Efficiency Boilers

Bettendorf, Iowa (January 31, 2011) – Schebler’s eVent™ series of prefabricated chimney systems are designed specifically for high-efficiency, condensing boilers. The systems provide a safe, leak-free system that will last the life of the appliance backed up by a lifetime guarantee.

The series includes: eVent™, 24-gauge AL 29-4C® inner liner, continuous-welded, double-wall system with 1” air gap; eVentPlus™, constructed of thicker-than-industry-standard material (20-gauge AL 29-4C® inner liner) for added structural integrity; and eVentPlus2™, with 2” of insulation designed to reduce risk of condensation freeze on exterior routed systems, while reducing clearance to combustibles on interior routings.

Each model of the UL 1738-listed eVent™ is available in odd and even diameters from 5” to 48”. Sections are jointed utilizing a proven ½” flange to flange, “V” band joint connection. This joint design creates a leak-free joint assembly with the industry’s highest pressure rating of 40” WC. The structural integrity of the eVent™ systems combined with the long straight sections, up to 71” long, means fewer joints to assemble, fewer hangers and support plates to install, and reduced installation time and expense.

Dimensional accuracy ensures that the stacks comply with design specs and eliminates loss of construction time for revisions. Schebler also manufactures custom fittings to accommodate tight installation environments.

All Schebler prefabricated models are available for shipping within two weeks, considerably faster than the industry standard. Product gets to the job site quicker, which eliminates costly work stoppages.
